February 2009

OPEN SOURCE Thurs-Sat 12-6

255 17th street, Brooklyn 646 279 3969
"Proscenium" works by: Ethan Crenson and Amand Alic, Mark Chandler, Leigh Davis, Stefanie Koseff, Pascal Murer, Serge Onnen, and Miho Suzuki. Fuse Works: multiples and editions by artists who approach editioned artwork as a field of artistic discourse and inquiry itself, rather than simply a means of mass-producing their efforts. Fuse Works is an independent, itinerant curatorial endeavor organized by Amanda Alic and Ethan Crenson. The program maintains a small home base at the Front Room gallery in Brooklyn and offers a virtual storefront online (www.fuse-works.com). Following the exhibition, Open Source will become the second gallery location in Brooklyn to offer Fuse Works editions. Feb 13th - Mar 8th, reception on Friday, Feb. 13th, from 7-10pm. Performance by James Leonard Feb 28th, 8pm.

"MEND": The 2008/9 exhibit of art, artifacts, books, and related programs at Proteus Gowanus revolves around the theme MEND. From mending a piece of fabric to solving global problems, we will explore the theme from a multiplicity of perspectives and disciplines at a time when "fixing things," from the mundane to the profound, seems increasingly out of our reach. Runs through June.
